

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This is a cargo container overhead hoist operated by a highway truck to load or unload the container from the bed of the truck to an overhead hoist for holding the container. The hoist has parallel swing links that lift the container, and 5 a latch to hold it lifted so the truck can be driven out from under, or released to be lowered onto the truck bed by movement of the truck.